MILFORD SCHOOL

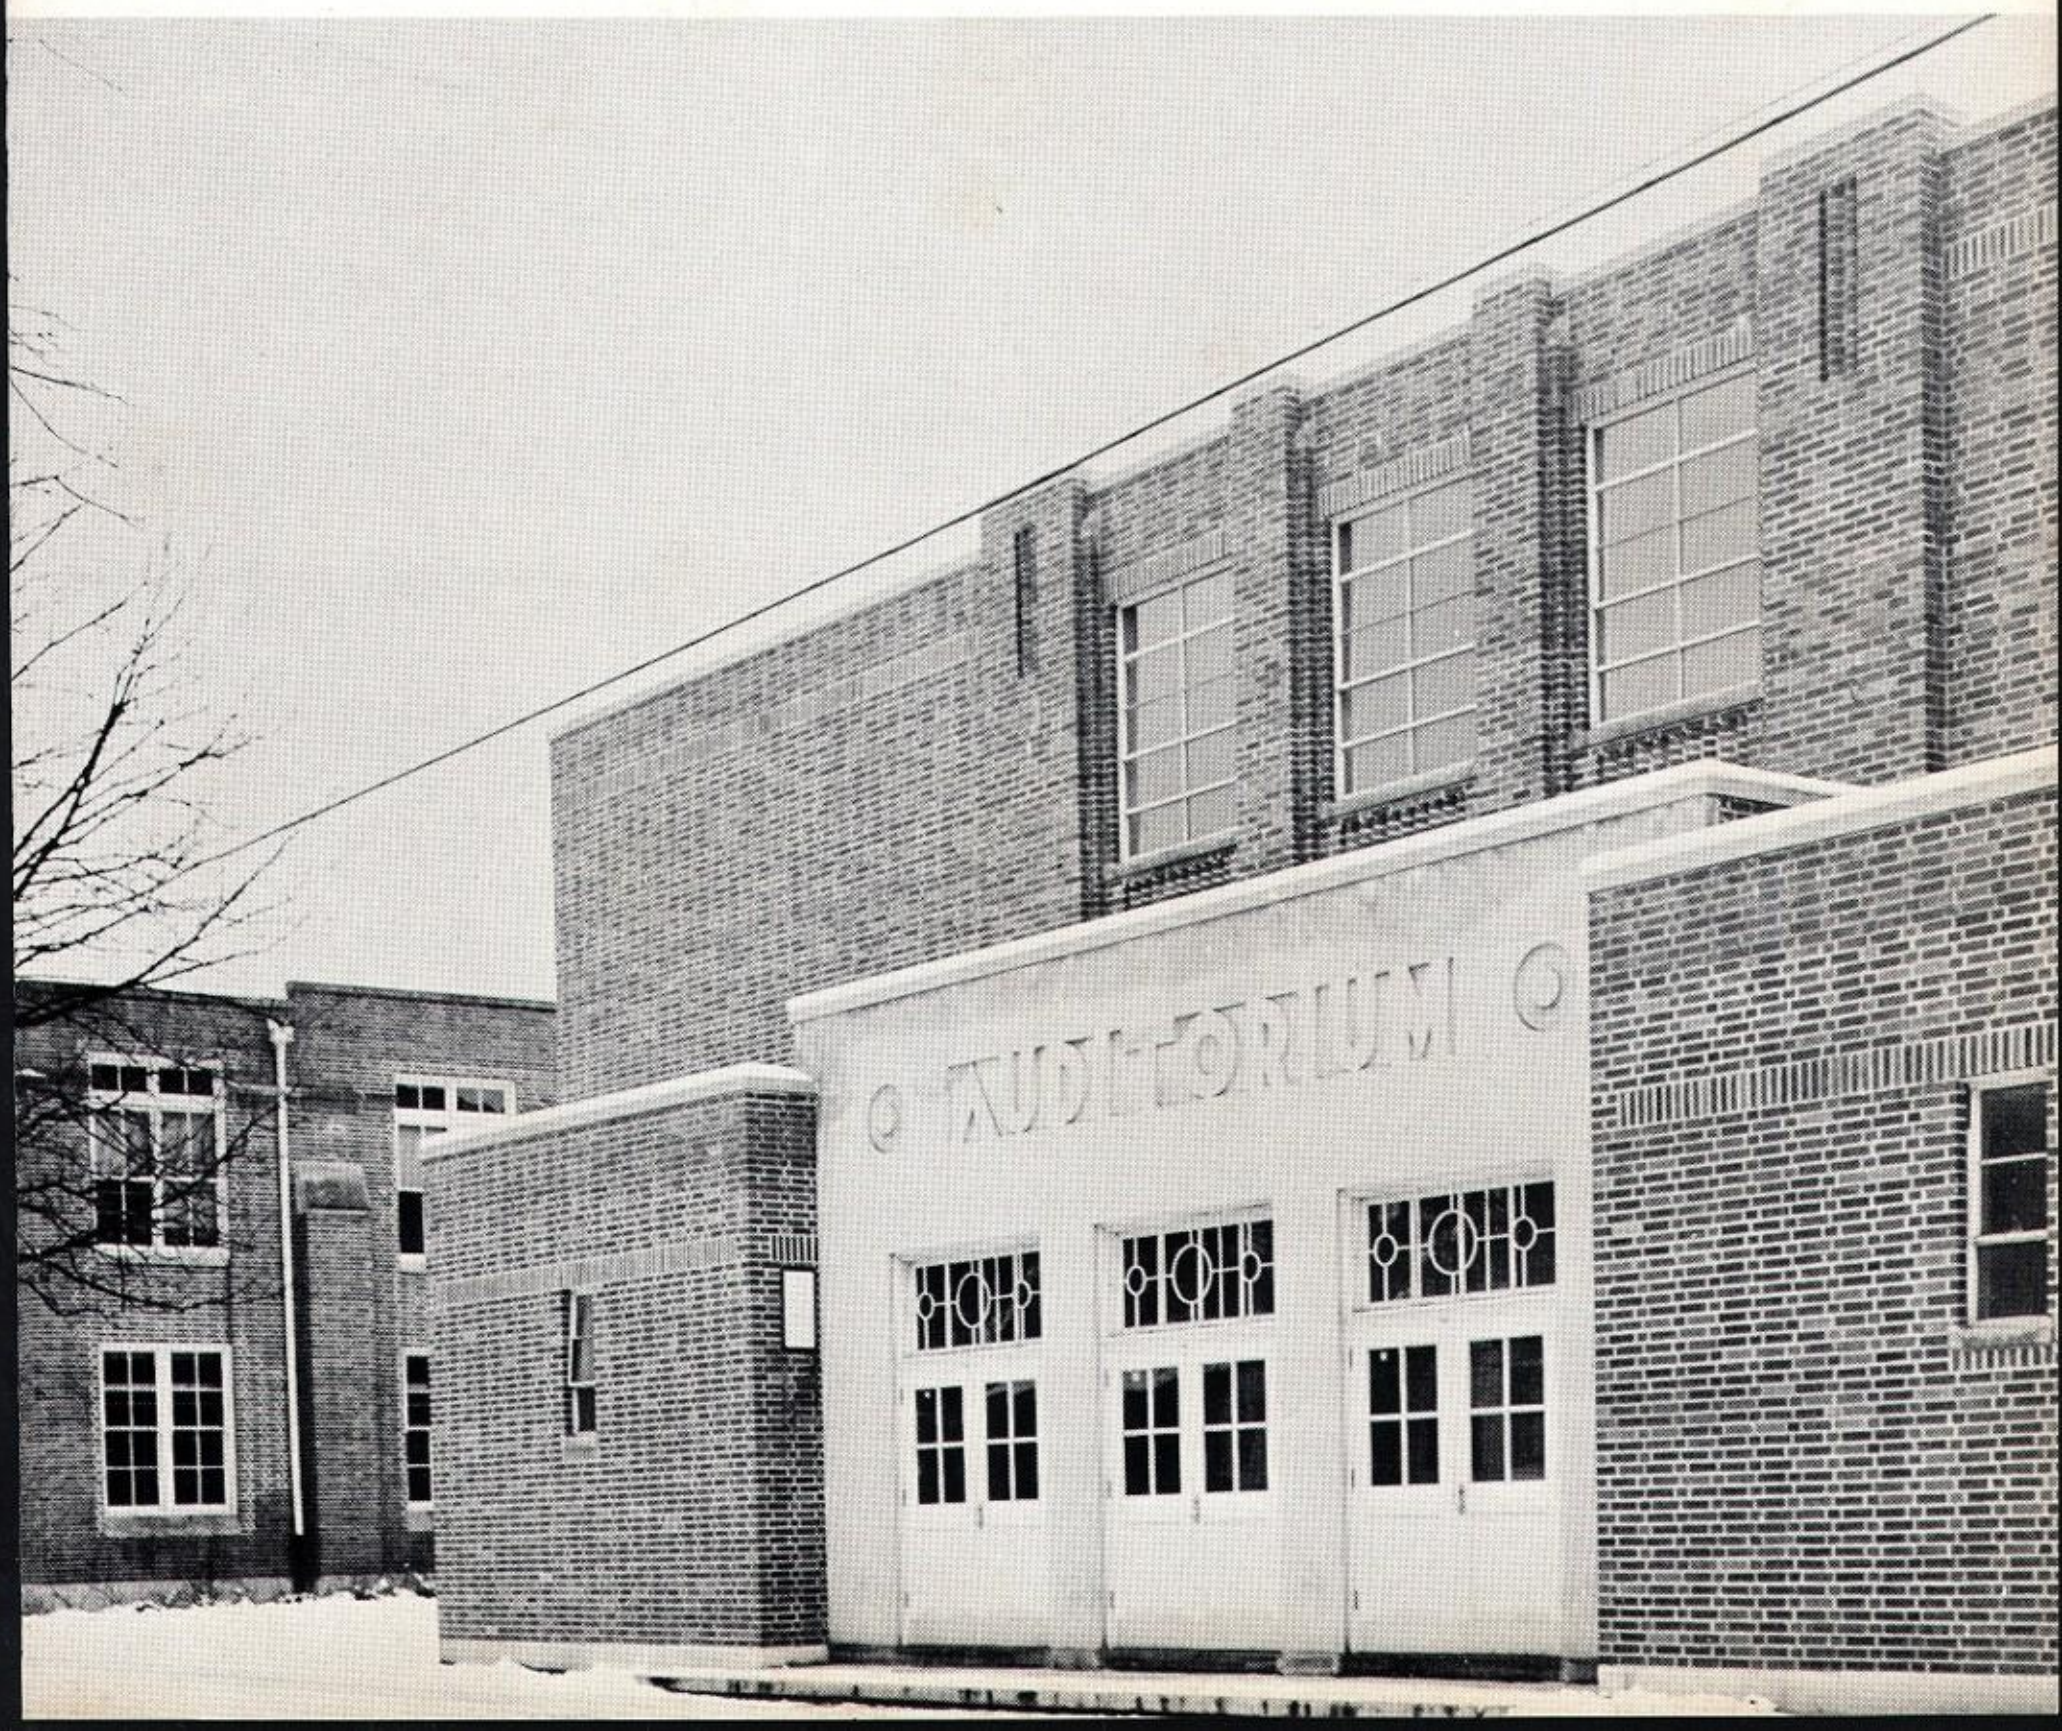

An eaglet enters Milford School and, after nourishing his mind with various subjects, and with numerous activities as appetizers, leaves his best thirteen years later to become a "RULER OF THE AIR."

"A bird of the air shall carry the voice, and that which hath wings shall tell the matter."

MILFORD SCHOOL SONG

Here's to dear old Milford High School,
For her we'll proudly stand,
And we'll sing her praises always
Over all the land;

Red and white we'll always honor,
Her colors fly for aye,
Here's to dear old Milford High School,
Forever and a day.

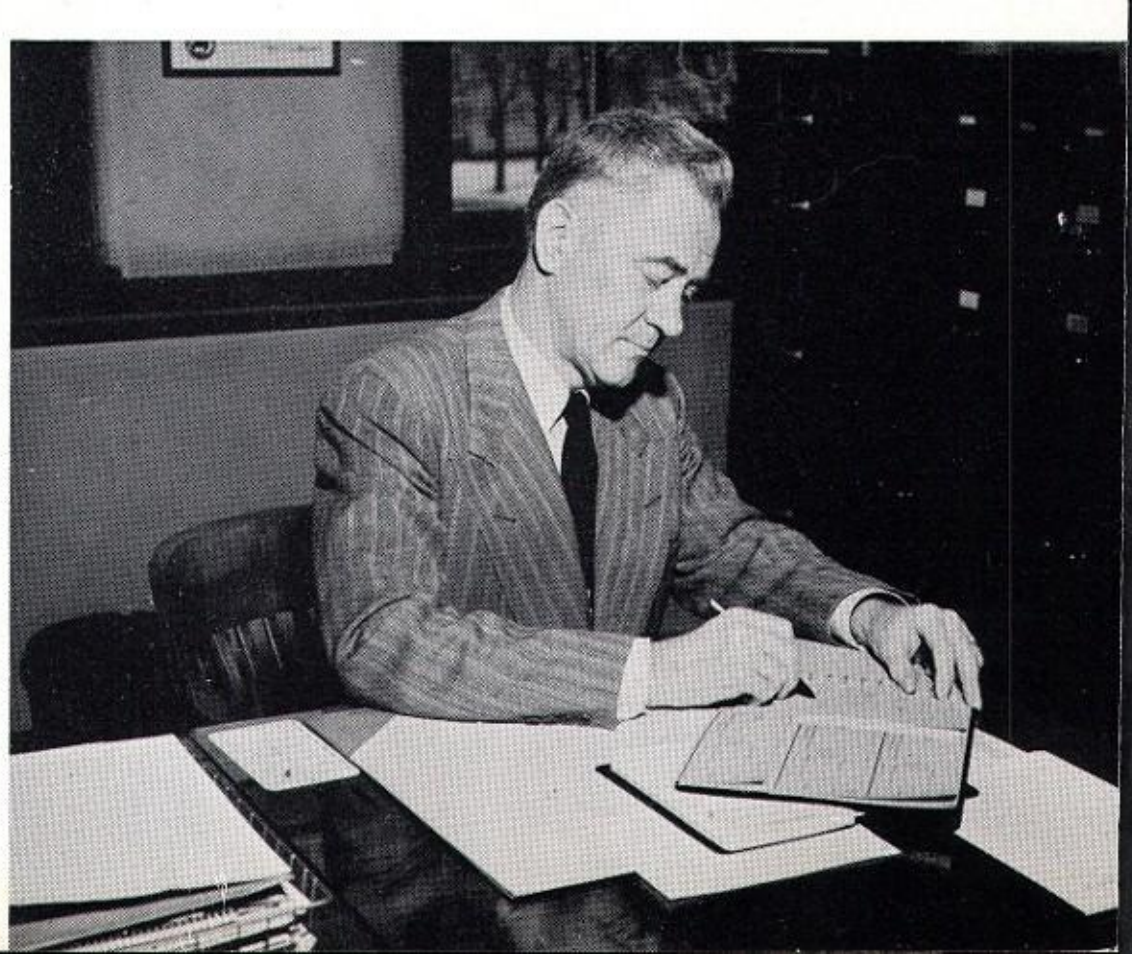

The pupils of Milford High School are grateful to Mr. Fley, their superintendent, for arranging all the details of the journey toward graduation.

Each year another class leaves our high school to take its place alongside those who have graduated previously. With them they take the knowledge, the experience, and the training which they have gained during their in-school years. Some will have more to take with them because they have put more into their work and therefore have progressed beyond the attainments of those who have studied only half- heartedly.

School has offered you the opportunity for preparation. Life affords you the opportunity to show what you can do with that preparation, for your own good and for the good of others. Some will be satisfied with a good pay check. Many, we trust, will want to go much farther than that and will want to give their time, talent, and service for the betterment of their homes, their churches, their schools, and their communities. Only by going this second mile will you be able to enjoy that exhilarating satisfaction of a life well lived.

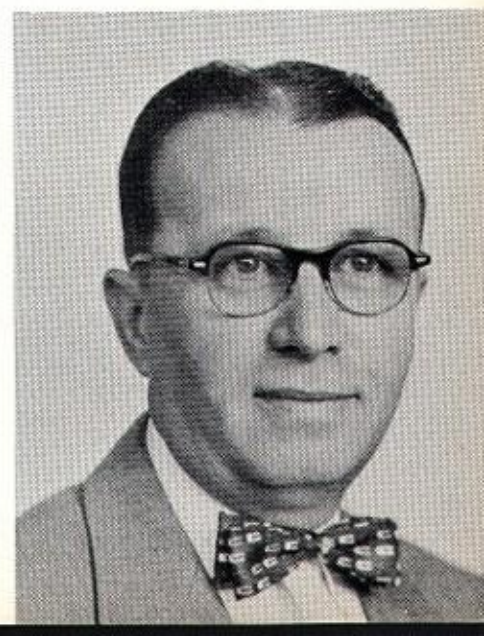

The operations involved in running a school are never-ending tasks.

The last years in preparing for self-subsistence are guided by one who uses unerring judgment, Sidney B. Cutlip, the Principal of the High School.

Guiding eleven hundred students is no easy task, but our ever-busy administrators always have time to help with our difficulties.

An eaglet cannot develop its facilities without the proper direction and leadership; this is very ably supplied by Houston G. Newman, the Principal of the Grade School.

DURING OUR LAST YEAR FOR THE RED AND WHITE, WE, THE

It was thirteen years ago when the doors of Milford School were opened by the Class of '56. Although we were scared and bewildered by this strange place, Mrs. Harper, our kindergarten teacher, soon reassured us that the long journey through Milford School would have many joys.

During the next eight years we lost old friends and gained new ones along the way.

The arrival of many new friends from Newtonsville, Miamiville, and Mulberry made our Freshman class a group of over one hundred students. The newcomers soon became fast friends and the entire group elected Jack Carpenter, Charles Caudill, and Margie Westmeyer as class officers. Glenna Neace was our Homecoming attendant and our sponsors were Mr. McDermott and Miss Jacobs.

Miss Nielander, Mrs. Shriver, and Mr. Hume greeted us at the door of our Sophomore year. Our big event of the year was the sponsoring of the Homecoming Parade in which Arlene Mowrey participated as our attendant choice. A roller skating party was our first class-outing—an outing of a class of seventy-four students who chose Jim McGaw, Gail Harrison, Arlene Mowrey, and Merlene Hayes as officers.

The year 1955 arrived and we were Juniors, "Big Wheels" at last! The class officers, Charles Caudill, Barbara Gaetz, and Peggy Raidt were led by President Kenny Buxton. "Lights Out" was the sensation that was presented on November 19 to the public. Who will forget the clinches of Jack and Doris, or of Sonny and Glenna? Yes, the class play was one of the great productions behind the coaching of Miss Nielander. Everyone pitched in to sell magazines, to sell baked goods, and to gather paper to earn money for the Junior-Senior Prom. Mrs. Moore and Mr. McKnight heaved a sigh of relief when the night of April 29 saw the Terrace Park Country Club greet the upper classmen of Milford High. That unforgettable evening led to Milford's Masonic Temple for breakfast and finally to home.

Seniors, Seniors! We made it! We are Seniors at last! We ask each other, "Where has the time gone?"

Ronnie Wiley as President, Larry Hayes as Vice-President, Clarice Meyers as Secretary, and Peggy Raidt as Treasurer, guided the Class of '56 in its last year. The number that Mrs. Dickens and Mr. Moser watch over has dwindled to fifty-four, half of our Freshman class. Gail Harrison was chosen as Fall Festival Queen and Peggy Raidt was chosen as the Homecoming Queen. Half the class went to New York in February and the time flew until the class play. The Prom and Graduation put the end touches on thirteen unforgettable years at Milford School.

THE CLASS PROPHECY OF '56

The day was one of boredom, and the whole afternoon I had been content waiting for something to occur which would deliver me from my idleness. I felt a sudden annoyance at the silence and was stirred with the desire to create some great noise; or to visit a place where I might find some. I began my promenade down through the busiest section of the city, and turning the corner, I was thrown into the midst of a most vicious body of persons, united by a common cause. They wished to enter the door of a small bookshop. Seeing that any attempt to escape this wild tumult would be rendered useless, I allowed myself to be pushed directly through the door into a well-known face. It was Charles Caudill, my old classmate of '56, and he was autographing a book entitled, "The Importance of Being Charles." Before I could utter a word, I was pushed to the other side of the shop by the same force which had shoved me through the doorway, but my classmate had vanished among them. Deciding that I would buy a copy of his book, I waited until the crowd departed before I made my greetings. I found a chair, settled myself, and opened the book. As I scanned the pages some familiar names caught my eye. I turned back to the page of introduction and observed the following imprint: "To My Classmates of 1956." Reading further, I found that he had given each of our classmates a part in his book.

Joann McDermott, Barbara Gaetz, and Gail Harrison were all teaching grade school. The latter had just turned down an engagement to marry a Duke. As I continued to read I discovered that Marshall Berryman, Herbie Howell, Kenny Buxton, and Sam Potts had formed a singing quartet. They had called themselves "The Four Joys," and were now touring the states with Ronnie Wiley's great band. Gayle Walker, whose screen name was Tilda Tracy, had made herself famous in the role of Lady Macbeth in the great Shakespearean play. I had heard her performance was spectacular. I was astonished to hear that John Cox owned the whole chain of A & P Markets and that his father and mother were working for him. Stanley Norman, after his sixth unsuccessful marriage, was living a quiet bachelor's life away from all woes. I could not suppress a giggle when I read that Dick Brand was spending all of his spare time learning to speak French so that he might communicate with his French wife. Donna Adamson, Alma Moore, and Arlene Balash had all married into wealth. Arlene had convinced her husband that he should buy South Milford to convert into a playground for their children. Margie Westmeyer, Rosenna Huff, and Marilyn Dardeen owned a charm school. The sign had been quoted which hung in front of the school:

"If you're ugly, don't feel blue,
There is sympathy awaiting you,
Come in and we will do
A little patching up for you."

Bob Smith was a prominent surgeon. Owing to no fault of his, he had lost only one patient on the operating table. He had left his patient only for a moment and had forgotten to return for some reason that he had also forgotten. Could this death have been prevented? Mr. Caudill has left his reader to decide. Jack Carpenter was a captain in the Navy and Joe Davis was still hanging around town, showering kindnesses on his senile aunt, who was almost ready for her departure, and who was leaving to Joe a great fortune. Joyce Ferguson, Colleen Denahy, and Barbara Henderson had all become nurses. Mallie McCarty had given up a basketball career to go on the stage. He was appearing in "The Last of the Amazons." Sam Andrew and Charles Diekmeyer, whose courageous hearts had always ached for adventure, were in the wilds of bloody Africa in search of a unicorn. A prominent New England writer had just written a book concerning their hunt, and it was called "Two Against the World." Doris Pschesang, a dental hygienist, and Sandra Shinkle, owner of "The Shinkle Modeling Schools," were soon to be led into matrimony. Lenora Marksbery and Mary Lou Wyatt were listed on the files of missing persons. I gasped with horror at this last statement, but as I read on I discovered that the rumor was that they had eloped with the mayor's sons. Ronnie Birkle and Bob Conley were in the insurance business and were doing quite well with the aid of their many, many secretaries: Charlotte Watkins, Margaret Berryman, Pat Taylor, and Betty Keith. Larry Hayes, the well-known philanthropist, was making a good-will tour in the southern part of the country to see what he could do for the poverty stricken families. Bill Funston was a tightrope performer in King Brothers' Circus, and Joe Siddens, Bert Cutler, and Bill Snell were all traveling salesmen. Thelma Board was Professor of Anthropology at Chicago University, and Mary Kemmeter owned the Miami Valley News.

Clarice Meyers, Merlene Hayes, and Peggy Raidt, whose spouses have jobs away from home, were all taking up mountain climbing to occupy themselves in their husbands' absence. Bill Ludlow and Ronald Herdtner were in the South Sea Islands, living hand in hand with nature and enjoying the peace and quiet.

Peggy Hickey had replaced Clare Boothe Luce as Ambassador to Italy, and was most happy with her important position. Jimmy Combs was a portrait painter and becoming quite rich. But what of Charles Staigle, and George Guenthner: Well, they are studying really hard and when they get out they hope to find a life of leisure awaiting them. And Glenna Neace is . . .

I suddenly jumped to my feet and a pang of sorrow overcame me, for my classmate was not to be seen. The bookshop was empty except for an elderly lady, who was preparing to close the shop. The street lights and the quietness led me to know that darkness had descended; so, wishing the old lady good-night, I entered the street once again, carrying under my arm the book, which had awakened fond memories of my classmates of '56, memories which time had so gently been erasing.

PERSONALITY

Joe Davis and Gail Harrison

These are the Seniors that everyone likes for their outstanding personality and friendly "hello."

MUSIC

Barbara Gaetz and Ronnie Wiley

Sharps and flats pose no problem for this pair of musically inclined Seniors who have mastered a great many melodies.

SCHOLARS

Mary Lou Wyatt and Charles Caudill

The seeking of knowledge has led these two Seniors to the top of the scholastic ladder for they have found many answers.

SPORTS

Doris Pschesang and Mallie McCarty

Leading the athletic department takes experience, practice, and talent of which these Seniors lead the field.

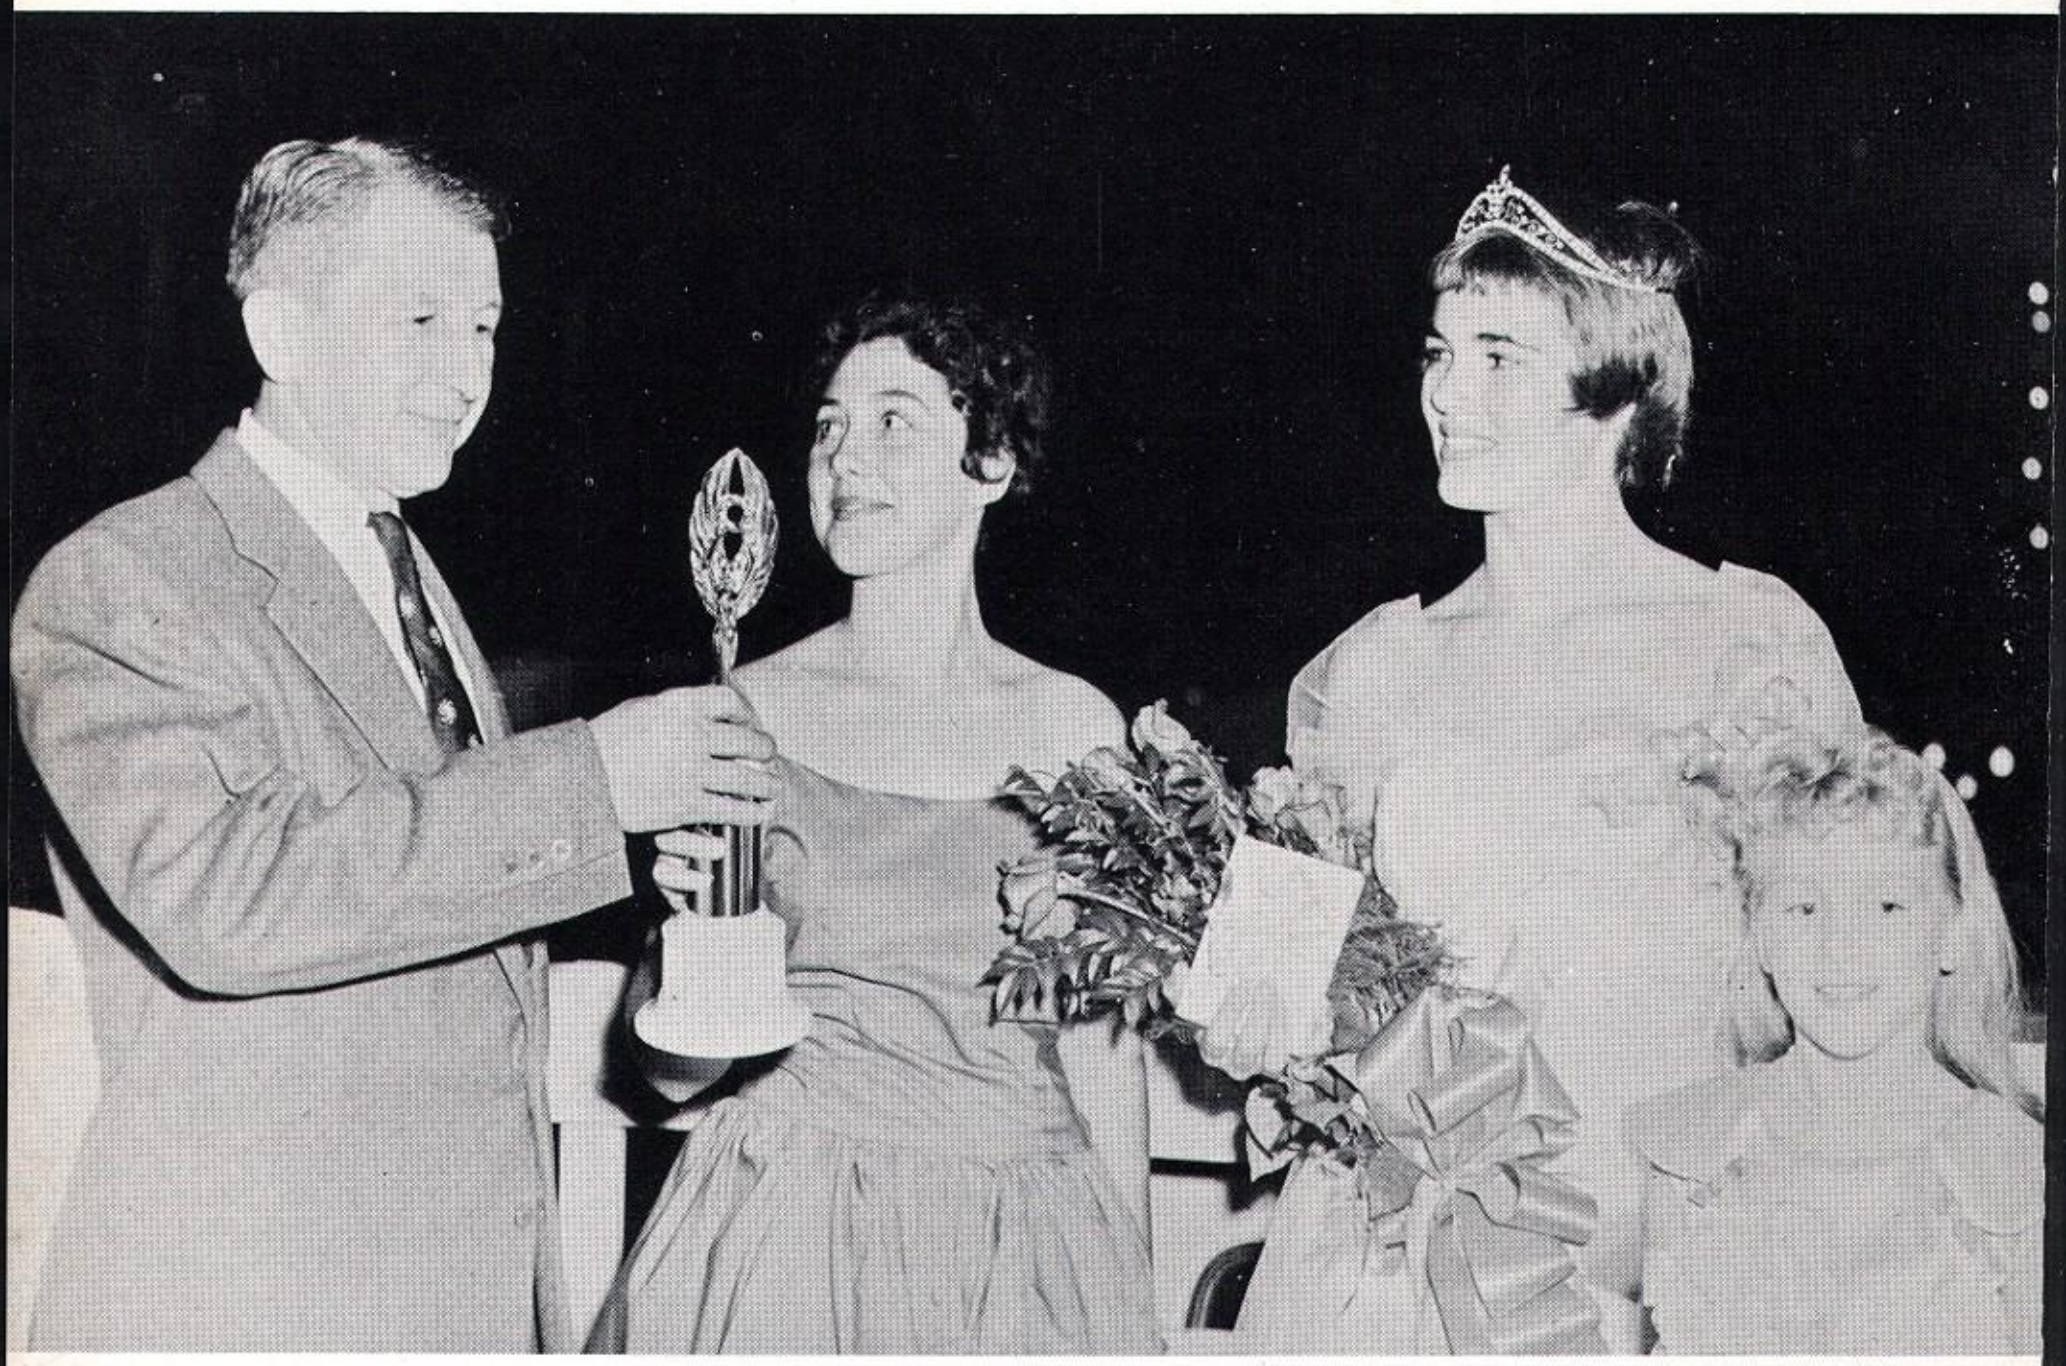

ALL-AROUND

Clarice Meyers and Jack Carpenter

Using versatility as an asset, these Seniors show that they can and do lead in any and all fields.

FESTIVAL QUEEN

Every year in the middle of September, the whole of Milford becomes industriously active with the proceedings of the Fall Festival. With the merchants selling chances on the automobile and the organizations sponsoring booths on the Midway, the school gets into the act with the band leading the parade, but that's not the biggest school entry. The center of attraction is the Fall Festival Queen.

Gail Harrison was selected by the Class of '56 to wear this year's crown during the festivities. The honor is great, and the class and school were very proud to have Gail represent them in this huge affair.

THE WISE OWLS

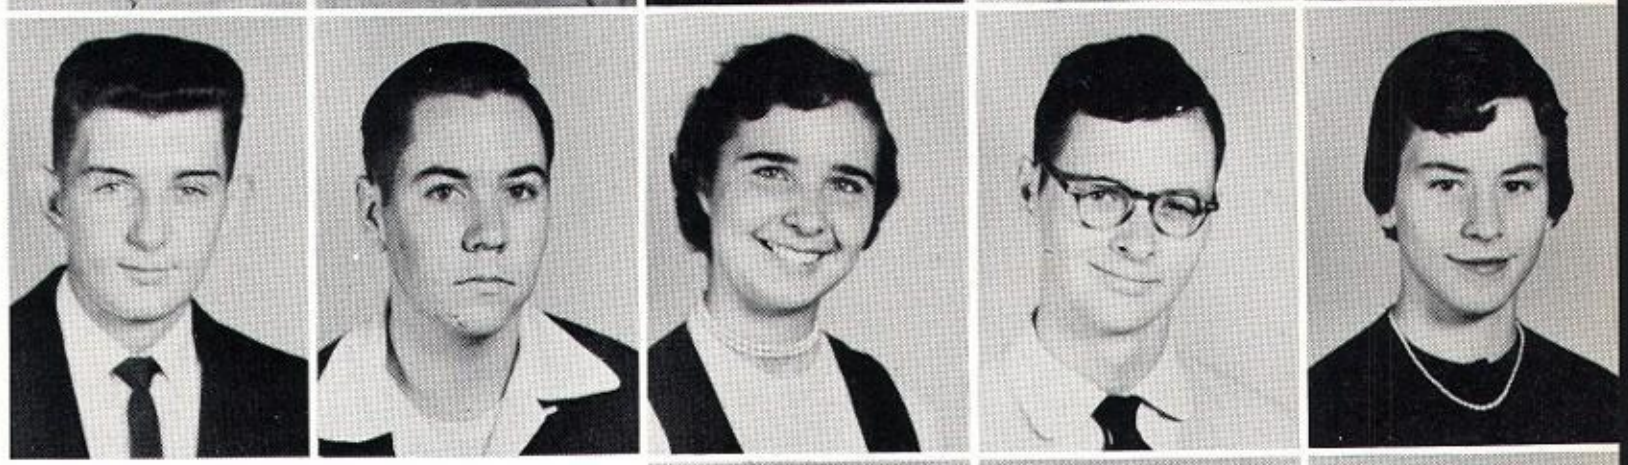

Never let it be said that the Juniors don't give a hoot! For as owls, they have the unenvied task of providing the financial basis for the Junior-Senior Prom. Being the wisest of the owls, and thereby leading the class are president Jim Parker, vice-president Bruce Mickey, secretary Jack Goodman, and treasurer Wanda Buettner. The money-raising projects were headed by the play "Too Sweet For Sixteen," and followed by magazine sales, paper drives, and bake sales.

It is during tis year that class rings arrive and official upper-classmanship is recognized. And it is during this year that the owls obtain the wisdom to become Eagles, "Rulers of the Air."

CATBIRDS

Catbirds are said to be rather on the side of imitators, besides having their own characteristics. And so it is with many of the Sophomores. Being very desirous of being upperclassmen, they are only preparing for the next two years of school. Surely they can't be blamed for that. The sponsorship of the Homecoming parade is the big project of the year, and leading the "chorus of catbirds" was president Chick Knight, vice-president Dick Garvey, scretary Gayle Wolfe, and treasurer Barbara Sontag.

THE CANARIES

Canaries are showbirds and the Freshmen know exactly how it is to be looked at and judged. For each year the Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores find their way to the Freshmen homerooms to see the new additions to Milford High.

One might say that the Frosh are the underprivileged members of Milford, but they undoubtedly look forward to the day when they will become "Eagles, Rulers of the Air."

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Class of '56 during its last year in Milford High, had the honor of becoming the first class to be graduated after the Milford High School Student Council became a reality.

This organization, meeting for the first time in January, is composed of three representatives of each class under the leadership of the Senior president and the advisor.

The idea that our school needed such an organization was presented in an assembly by Charles Caudill and Larry Hayes, who also gave the purposes, aims, ideals, and projects of the Student Council.

The officers are Charles Caudill, President; Bill Funk, Vice-President; Elaine Goodman, Secretary; and Fred Bauer, Treasurer. They have the important job of leading this organization which is the only one that represents the whole student body.

Citizenship is the key word in meeting various problems that arise. Aiding the faculty and linking faculty and students are also important functions of this organization.

Milford became a charter member of the Greater Cincinnati Area Student Council, and actively participated in drawing up this organization's constitution.

Seated: G. Neace, M. Berryman, J. Chance, C. Watkins. Second Row: B. Keith, G. Harrison, J. McDermott, B. Gillette, M. Dardeen, G. Monroe.

FUTURE TEACHERS

Future Teachers of America is an organization based chiefly on three excellent ideas. The Future is full of hope, opportunity, and promise for youth who prepare themselves for it. Teachers are the founders of civilization. The teacher upholds, enriches, and conveys the ideals and purposes of the race. America is characteristically the home of the Future and the Teacher. It is filled with purpose and promise. Teachers are given a higher place in America than in any other country in the world.

The purposes of the Future Teacher's Club are as follows:

To interest good students in becoming teachers.

To furnish sound and sympathetic guidance to prospective teachers and administrators.

To explore thoroughly the teaching field.

To cultivate qualities of leadership, character, and scholarship among students.

To study the lives of great teachers.

To bring to pupils greater understanding of the value of education in American society.

To render service to the school and the community.

FRENCH CLUB

"Parlez-vous francais?" "Mais Oui," well these are the fils and filles of the French Club.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Wurtz, the club has learned of the French customs and language which give the members a better understanding of France.

The officers of "Cercle Francais" are as follows: President, Mallie McCarty; Vice-President, Jack Carpenter; Secretary and Treasurer, Mary K. Kemmeter; and Corresponding Secretary, Charles Caudill.

First Row: B. Sims, G. Neace, P. Gordon, P. Baumgartner, E. Goodman, B. Lovett, S. Chapman, W. Gordon, C. Dixie, B. Gatch, J. Dupriest. Second Row: J. Bricker, G. Rosendahl, K. Haines, M. LATIN CLUB

As the phrase "L. L. T." might imply, Latin Lives Today. It lives within the classes, the language, and the every day life of the students in Latin Club. With meetings held every other month, the annual Roman Banquet, and the state convention, members actually do make Latin Live Today. The guiders of this organization are as follows: President Jack Carpenter, Vice-President Bob Gatch, Secretary Gene Rosendahl, and Treasurer Elaine Goodman.

The Junior Classical League is the basis of this club, and provides membership cards and pins to establish a common identification for scholars of the ancient Roman language.

G A A

The Girls' Athletic Association is one of the largest organizations at Milford High; and it is the basis for the girls' basketball teams, and the foundation for girls' intramural sports.

Each year the members have special outings such as hikes, skating parties, and horse-back rides. Thees events not only provide recreational enjoyment, but they also earn points which supplement those earned by other activities. When the total of 200 points is attained, a G A A letter is awarded to the worthy member.

This year's organization is under the direction of Miss Jacobs with Clarice Meyers as President.

Y-TEENS

Y-Teens is an organization of girls who are in senior high school. These Y-Teens girls are connected with the Young Women's Christian Association.

The goals are to grow as a person, to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions and nationalities, and to grow in the knowledge and love of God.

The purpose is "To build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians. In this endeavor we seek to understand Jesus, to share his love for all people, and to grow in the knowledge and love of God."

The girls are proud to wear their pins, a triangle and globe, which signify that they are a Y-Teen Girl.

F. H. A.

"We are the Future Homemakers of America,
We face the future with warm courage and high hope.
For we have the clear consciousness of seeing old and precious values.
For we are the builders of homes,
Homes for America's future.
Homes where living will be one expression of everything,
That is good and fair.
Homes where truth and love and security and faith,
Will be realities, not dreams.
We are the Future Homemakers of America.
We face the future with warm courage,
And high hope."

Mrs. Virginia Marquett, the sponsor of F. H. A., has helped the girls plan many activities.

The officers are as follows: President, Marilyn Dardeed; Vice-President, Christine Moorman; Secretary, Barbara Henderson; Treasurer, Rosenna Huff; and Historian, Mary K. Kemmeter.

DANIEL KOCH

The music department has been one of Milford School's outstanding assets in the past several years. Among these assets are the Senior Band, the Junior Band, the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs, and various other musical combinations.

The person responsible for all this is Mr. Daniel Koch. Alone, he has produced countless musicians and helped with such organizations as the Dixieland Band, the Stardusters, the Mellowtones, and the Tonettes.

He has earned great merit for his halftime football shows with the band, and the concerts given at various times of the year.

He deserves great credit for the production of such musicals as "New Dawn," "Ask the Professor," and other operettas.

This is the always-busy man who provides entertainment for many of Milford's organizations, and who rarely gains except through the satisfaction of spreading musical harmony to a great many people.

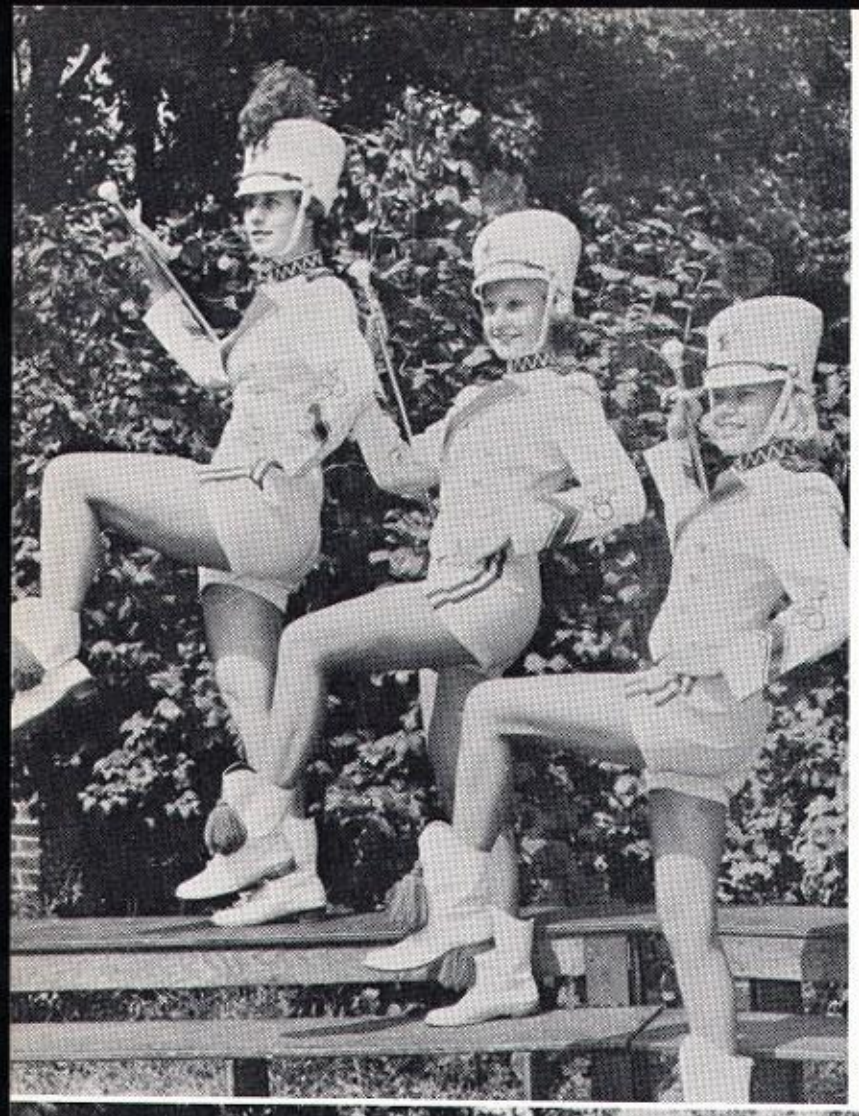

We, the Class of '56, dedicate this section to a leader who deserves it most, Mr. Koch.

CO-EDITORS

Charles Caudill and Barbara Gaetz

First planning, next taking, then writing captions, and finally putting the steps together, these co-editors have spent countless hours in producing this 1956 Droflim, the history book of the "Rulers of the Air."

ART

Clarice Meyers and Peggy Raidt

Creating exactly what was wanted of them was no easy task for the art staff, but by evidence of the illustrations, they have brought forth a great asset for the 1956 Droflim.

SALES

Betty Keith and Thelma Board

These girls have been busy contacting both the grade school and the high school and encouraging them to buy the 1956 Droflim.

SPORTS

Barbara Henderson, Marilyn Dardeen, Larry Hayes, Mallie McCarty, and Jack Carpenter.

Working with the co-editors, the sports staff has recorded the athletic events which form an important part of the school in promoting team work and good citizenship.

BUSINESS

Bob Smith, Bert Cutler, Charles Caudill, Joe Davis

An unseen and unmentioned but essential task in creating the annual is the procuring of advertisements. The business staff spent a great deal of time in order to visit the business places of approximately one hundred establishments.

FEATURE

Doris Pschesang, Mary K. Kemmeter, Glenna Neace, and Barb Gaetz.

Being original, interesting, and informative was the difficult objective of the feature staff. Tieing these ideas with the basic ideas of the co-editors, this staff has shown well their ability to write the many features in the 1956 Droflim.

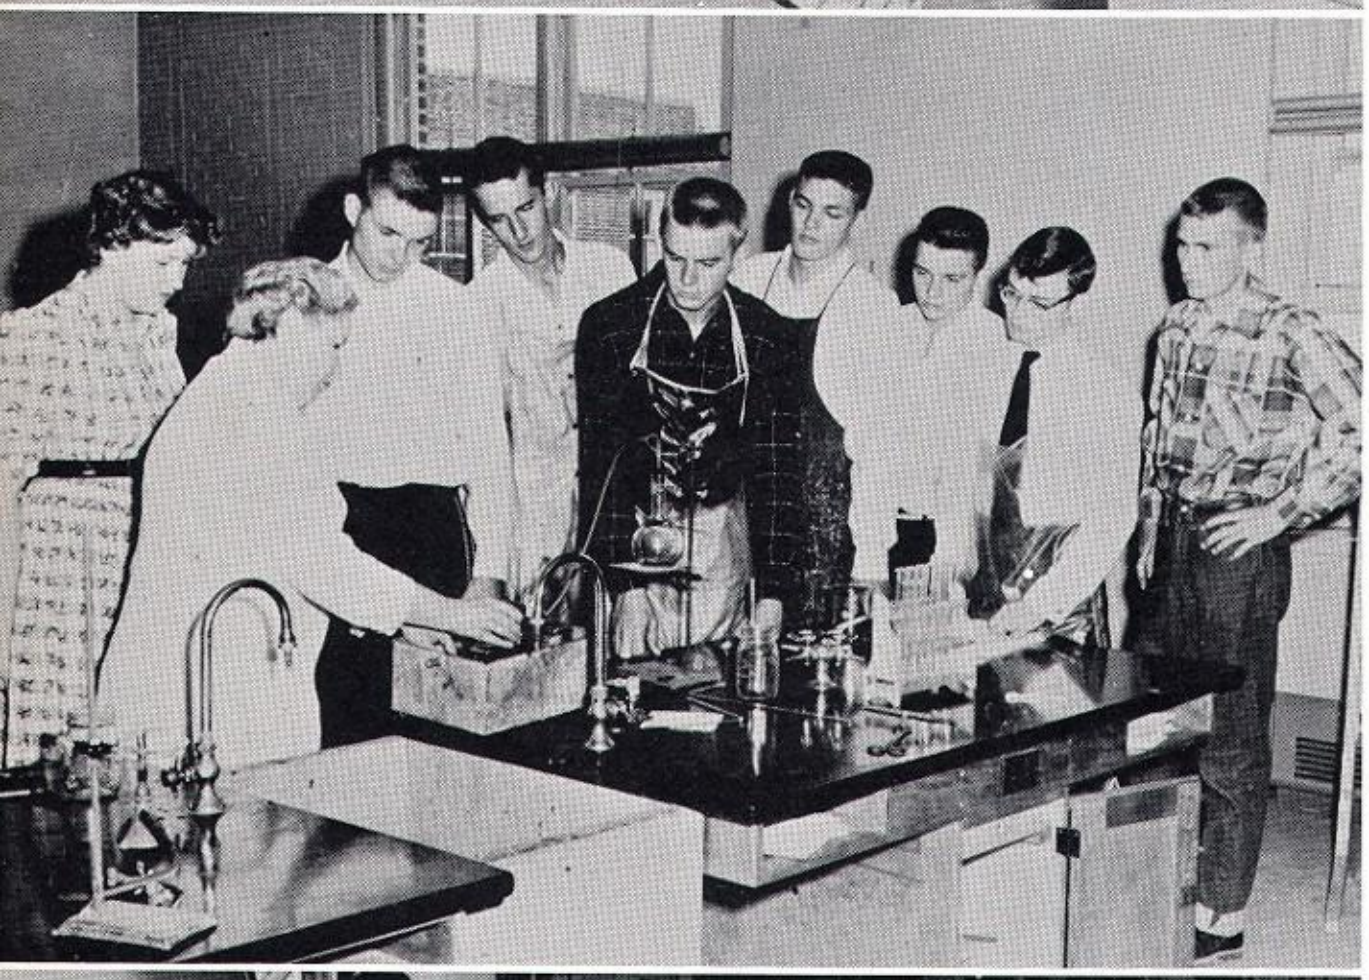

Seated: M. Huxell, R. DeWeese, A. Combs, D. Johnson, J. Smith, J. Marshall, A. Evans. Standing: Mrs. Marquett, L. Caudill, P. Warsham, M. Cobb, P. Gaines, B. Lonaker, J. Long, C. Bingaman, B. Anderson, M. Hill, J. Johnson.

HOME ECONOMICS CLASS

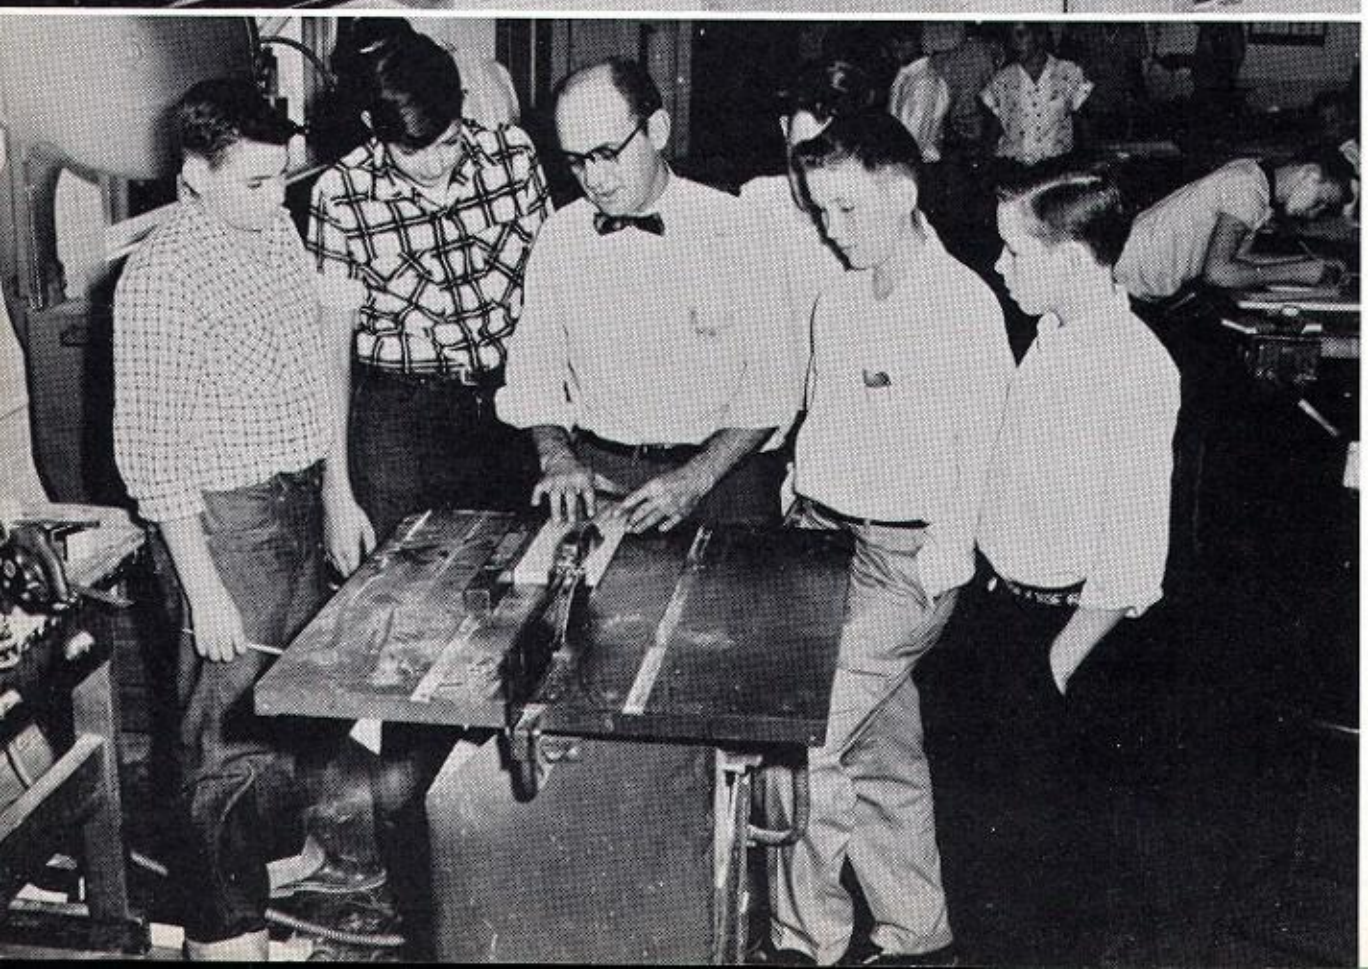

Gaining knowledge through experience, these girls learn how to make their own clothing and to prepare for their future lives as homemakers.

N. Andrew, Mrs. Moore, B. Smith, B. Birkle, J. Carpenter, M. McCarty, L. Hayes, C. Caudill, R. Birkle.

CHEMISTRY CLASS

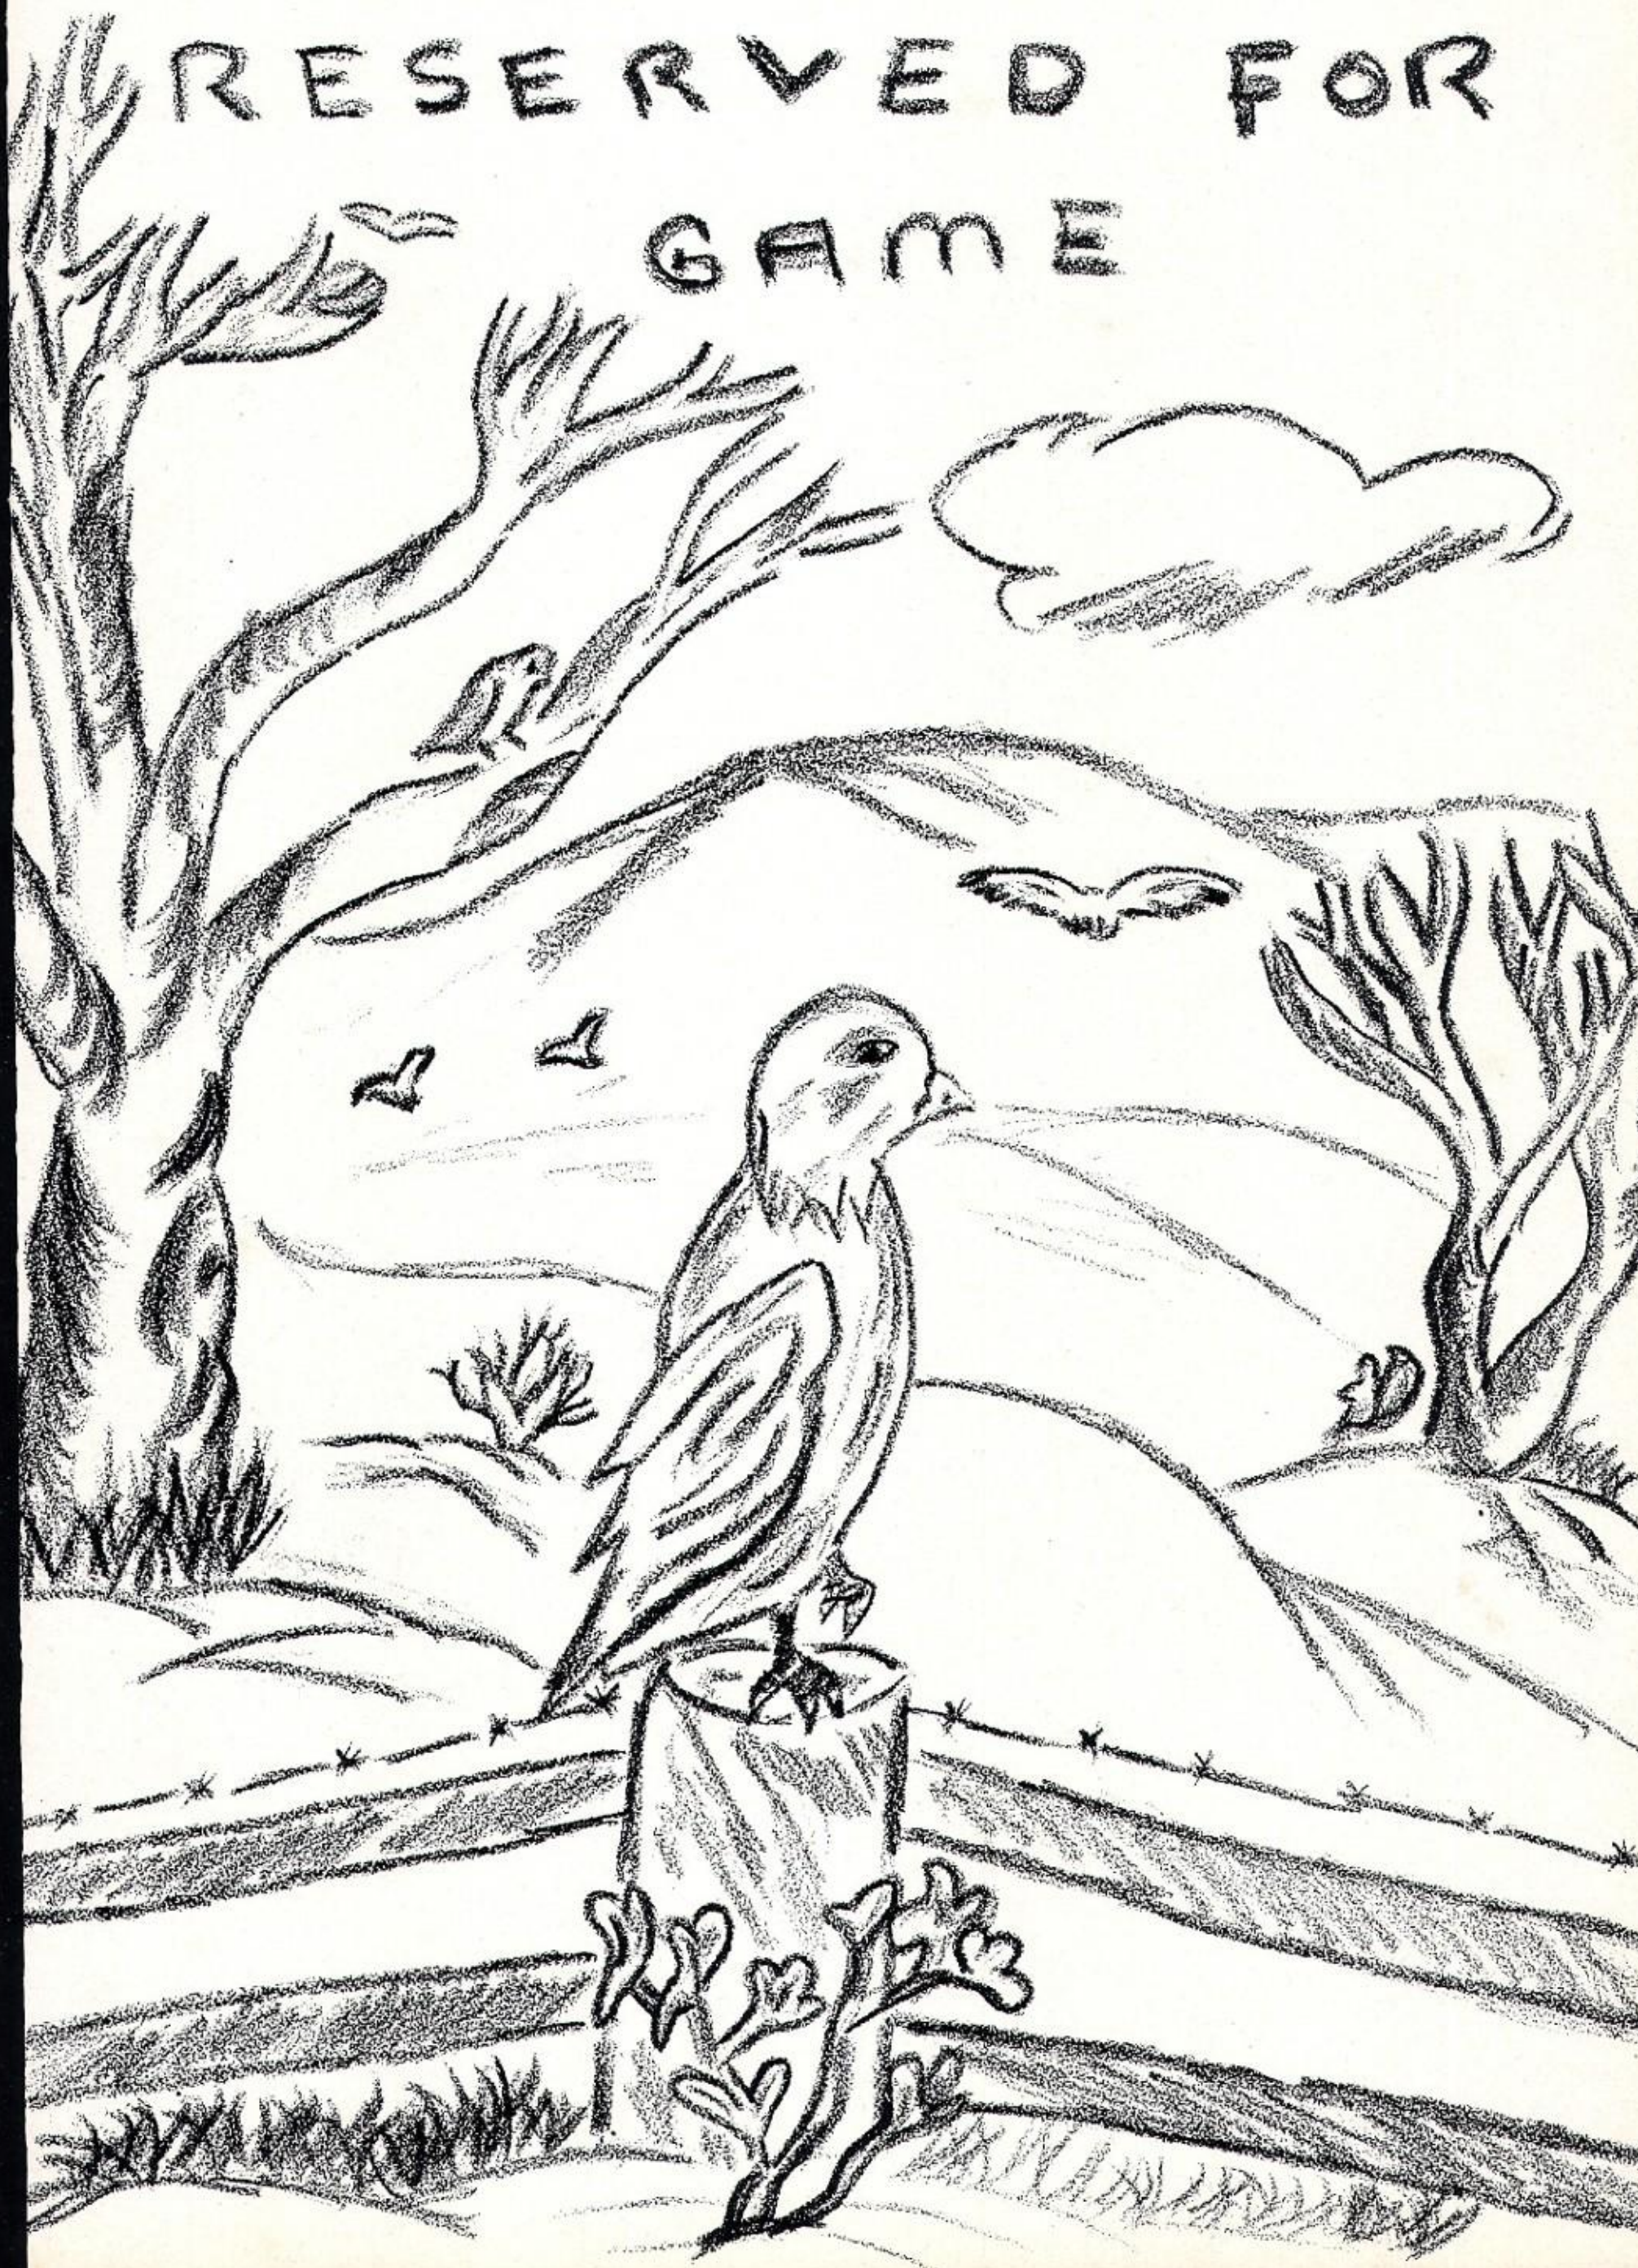

Working with the composition of compounds and mixtures, the chemistry students learn amazing facts about the world we live in.

M. Powers, L. Wiederhold, Mr. Donohoo, P. Lane, B. Wyatt.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLASS

These boys will find that their knowledge will be very useful in the future, as their able instructor points out.

HOMECOMING QUEEN

The Homecoming parade, football game, and dance is the highlight of the autumn season at Milford High. This is the time of the year that witnesses and return of the graduates of Milford High, both of recent years and of former years. This is a time of festivity and of reaquaintance with old friends.

Over it all reigns the Senior girl chosen by her classmates to occupy the Queen's throne . As Homecoming Queen, she leads the parade of floats through the heart of Milford, is kissed at the halftime of the football game by the team captains, and finally is crowned at the climax of the evening, the Homecoming Dance.

This year's attractive queen was Peggy Raidt, a five foot two-inch brunette. Sharing in the limelight of glory were attendants Glenna Neace, representing the Seniors; Wanda Buettner, representing the Juniors; Beverly Anderson, representing the Sophomores; and Marilyn Curless, representing the Freshmen.

MALLIE McCARTY

The Class of '56 is very proud of the fact that in their number is the scoring leader of basketball in Greater Cincinnati. This outstanding athlete is Mallie McCarty, who in both his Junior and Senior years, was Cincinnati's best in addition to leading Milford's team as captain. Mallie gives further proof of the old adage that "Practice makes perfect."

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of 1956, being of sound mind (?), do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament.

I, Donna Adamson, bequeath my quiet ways to Bertie Moore, who needs them; But Dick I leave to no one.
I, Sam Andrew, bequeath my ability to high jump in track to Jack Goodman.
I, Arlene Balash, bequeath my ability to get into trouble to Bertie Moore, and my ability to sleep in study hall to Lonnie Winters.
I, Margaret Berryman, bequeath my seat in P. A. D. class to anyone who can take the teasing, and my ability to be quiet on the bus to Pat Lawrence.
I, Marshall Berryman, bequeath my position on the football team to Chick Knight.
I, Ronald Berkle, bequeath my ability to keep quiet to Doug McCracken, who needs it.
I, Thelma Board, bequeath my seat in bookkeeping to Janet Potts, but Johnny I leave to no one.
I, Richard Brand, bequeath my ability to beat Mr. Moser in ping pong to Freddie Bauer.
I, Kenny Buxton, bequeath my position as middle linebacker on the football team to Bob Buckner.
I, John D. Carpenter, bequeath my football jersey to Bill Odoms and my place on the basketball team to A. D. Moyer.
I, Charles Caudill, bequeath my four-year tenure of shortstop to Bil Beck, my drumming seniority to Mike Cutlip, and my addiction to school activities to my sister, Linda.
I, Jim Combs, bequeath my art editorship on the "Reflector" to Joyce Yourell, and my initiative to Billy Beck, the shy one.
I, Bob Conley, bequeath my ability to sleep through English to Gary Chance.
I, John Cox, bequeath my ability to get along with Mrs. Dickens to Gary Chance.
I, Bert Cutler, bequeath all my seats in my classes to Don Porter.
I, Marilyn Dardeen, bequeath my basketball position to Gayle Wolfe and my F.H.A. presidency to Chris Moorman.
I, Joe Davis, bequeath my place as tackle on the football team to Roger Hornsby, my basketball failure to Chase Knight, my ability to type to Red Isles, my place on the intramural basketball team to Eugene Leever, and my track position to Bill Brower.
I, Colleen Denahy, bequeath my long ride on the bus to Bonnie Huddleson and to Betty Day I leave my good grades (?) in shorthand.
I, Charles Diekmeyer, leave my seat in English IV to Elmer Wolfe.
I, Joyce Ferguson, bequeath my position on the basketball team to Marjorie Cobb.
I, Bill Funston, bequeath my first seat in the center row of fifth bell English Class to some unlucky person.
I, Barbara Gaetz, bequeath my position in the Band to Judybeth Spraggins and my ability to get along so well (?) with Jake to anyone who wants it.
I, George Guenthner, bequeath to Bill Brower my ability to get along with Mrs. Dickens during English Class.
I, Gail Harrison, bequeath my knee socks to Chick Knight and my short hair cut to Gail Monroe.
I, Larry Hayes, bequeath my water bucket to Dave Seyler, my job as "timer" to Mike Cutlip, and my grades in Trig to Jim Ertel.
I, Merlene Hayes, bequeath my height to Mary Sue Johnson; and the money I haven't got, to anyone who wants it.
I, Barbara Henderson, bequeath the "cackle" in my laugh to Carolyn McNaught; also, my position on the basketball team to Pam Gordon.
I, Ronald Herdtner, bequeath my seat to Donna Motz in Junior English, and my English ability to anyone who wants it.

I, Herb Howell, bequeath my position as right guard on the football team to Chick Knight.
I, Peggy Hickey, bequeath my quietness to Judy Snell.
I, Rosenna Huff, bequeath my laughter to my sister, Connie; my ability to get along with Mr. Cutlip to my brother, Jerry; but Doug I leave to no one.
I, Betty Keith, bequeath my front seat on the bus to Maurice Powers.
I, Mary Kathryn Kemmeter, bequeath my ability to get along with teachers to anyone willing to learn, my athletic ability to someone tall and thin, my instrument to Barbara Dunlap, and Tom I'll keep for myself.
I, Bill Ludlow, bequeath my ability to play pool to Elmer Wolfe.
I, Lenora Marksberry bequeath my referee's whistle to Sue Wheeler.
I, Mallie McCarty, bequeath my basketball to Dick Snell.
I, Joann McDermott, bequeath my baton and whistle to Gayle Wolfe.
I, Clarice Meyers, bequeath my dark hair to my Naturally blond sister who needs it more than I do, but Paul I leave to none.
I, Alma Moore, bequeath the Chev to Bertie so she can be official chauffeur of the "H" tribe, but Chick I'll keep for myself.
I, Glenna Neace, bequeath my old brown purse and a golden earring to Carol Bingaman, and to Jim Parker my portrait of Somerset Maugham.
I, Stanley Norman, bequeath my home room seat to Bruce Mickey.
I, Sam Potts, bequeath my seat in Junior English to anyone who wants it ?????
I, Doris Pschesang, bequeath my cheerleading spot to Pam Gordon, my long bus ride to Linda Caudill, and my bright Italian shirt to Sarah Peck.
I, Peggy Raidt, bequeath my nickname "Peanut" to Marilyn Curless and my spot on Varsity cheering squad to my sister, Pauline.
I, Billy Joe Siddens, bequeath my ability to beat the bass drum to Billy Platt.
I, Sandra Shinkle, bequeath my ability to stay out of fights with her brother to Faith Lawson.
I, Bob Smith, bequeath my first trombone part in band to whoever wants it.
I, Charles Staigle, bequeath my ability to get along with Mr. Hume and my football uniform to Bucky Eigher.
I, Pat Taylor, bequeath my height to Deanna Ward.
I, Gayle Walker, bequeath my driver's license and loop sticks of red licorice to the "Clan" and my old Algebra papers to Jimmy Rogers.
I, Charlotte Watkins, bequeath my job in the mimeograph room to Yvonne Stouder, and my love for girls' basketball I'll keep for myself.
I, Margie Westmeyer, bequeath my front seat in P. A. D. to Wanda Buettner and my pony tail to Sarah Peck, but my love for girls' basketball I'll keep for myself.
I, Ronnie Wiley, bequeath my ability to hit double octave C to Muriel Eckstein.
I, Bill Snell, bequeath my front row seat in home room to anyone who wants it.
I, Mary Lou Wyatt, bequeath my job doing Mrs. Dickens' typing to Jean Thompson, my ability to get A's in English to my brother; but Calvin I'll keep for myself.

We, the Seniors, bequeath collectively the following:

To the Faculty, our heartfelt sympathy for having had to put up with us for the past four years.
To the Juniors, our home room and the right to be front row spectators.
To the Sophomores, the right to be called upper classmen and our ability to make money.
To the Freshmen, our ability to have fun and to get through four years of high school.

CONGRATULATIONS . . . .
